

Leo Bersamina

Statement:

I am an ardent observer of life's visual rhythms and fleeting moments. I am especially interested in the relationships and patterns that we create during our lives that over time come to define us, and make us definable to others.

I look for patterns we create through our living: relationships with forces of nature, and models created through encounters with other people, experiences, travel, shelter, struggle, habit, and with our own genetic makeup.